Description

The Riva Rudy was made in 1972 as a redesign of the Junior, with the hull lengthened to 5.87 m and wide to 2.18 m, powered by a 190 HP Riva 8V. The # 1 was built entirely of wood, as a model, from # 2 in fiberglass, but with wooden floorboard, from # 11 even the floorboard was in fiberglass. Remained in mahogany, giving the Rudy line a touch of elegance, handrails, storage tray behind the driver's seat, the ladder and engine compartment covers and aft lockers. It was a very successful boat for its versatility: ideal for families, with its spacious cockpit and walking around in safety, but also for fishing, water skiing and as a tender. This Riva Rudy is in good condition, good preserved and well working, all its original parts included. Further info on request.
